The LaGrange Reporter has this interesting item concerning an Atlanta man:

"Mr. N. T. Johnson, of Atlanta, was in our city the other day. Mr. Johnson was the second white child born in old Troup, his father, Mr. Nicholas Johnson, having been the first white settler. Mr. Johnson says that the first white child born in the county was John Strong."

GEORGIA PRESS GOSSIP.

The Dalton Argus has this to say of Governor Northen:

"Governor Northen is sawing wood and saying nothing, but he is making a brilliant reputation as a clear-headed cool governor. Georgia is proud of him."
